

INFORMATION DECOMPOSITION APPROACHES TO MAP BEHAVIOR IN COMPLEX SYSTEMS

Daniele Marinazzo

Department of Data Analysis, Ghent University, Belgium.

The behavior of complex systems can be observed by looking at the amount and type (redundant, synergistic, unique) of information shared among its different components. I will present a series of approaches to information decomposition with relative case studies.